...and she pondered these things in her heart...

Christmas
Sweet and joyful Christmas
We're so glad you're nearly here
Snowing blowing blizzards
Do nothing to dim our cheer

Abundant life, glorious hope
Has been brought to earth
Peace amid our troubled world
Christ the Messiah's birth!

Are You Enjoying Honey?

Seems like it's OK to lick your fingers these days, according to a little treasure of a verse in Proverbs 24:13. Just in time for Thanksgiving, we read that eating honey is good, and hey—even the drippings are sweet. Maybe we could post this verse by our Christmas baking areas! Actually, it means that wisdom from God's Word is like honey for us. So sweet that we want every last bit of the godness of it (Proverbs 24:14). It gives us a future and a hope that can't be cut off, no matter what anybody does or says.

And what stops us from enjoying this delicious feast? First of all, our own sin. When you stumble, do you know how to rise? Don't be discouraged—confess it! Proverbs 24:16 says the righteous fall seven times and rise again, just like Jesus told us to forgive seven times in one day (Luke 17:4).

Another thing that stops us from enjoying God's Word, is a wrong attitude when others fail. Our attitude needs to be, "I know what it's like, therefore, I put my arm around you and help you up." People around us will sin. We are not to be glad about it, and we are not to get upset about it—if so, God will be displeased with us (Proverbs 24:17-20). And we certainly are not to join in. Rather, our job is to fear God and those He's put in authority over us (Proverbs 24:21). So, this season, let's be women who submit to God and indulge in tasting the sweet drippings of His Word!
